English course in Brighton

June 2011

by Šárka Rajová

We lived in this small house with Melanie and Mark. They were young and had no children. Melanie was a very good cook but she didn't like use meat .

Our bus stop was near the house. This view we could admire every morning although the weather wasn't very good during our stay.

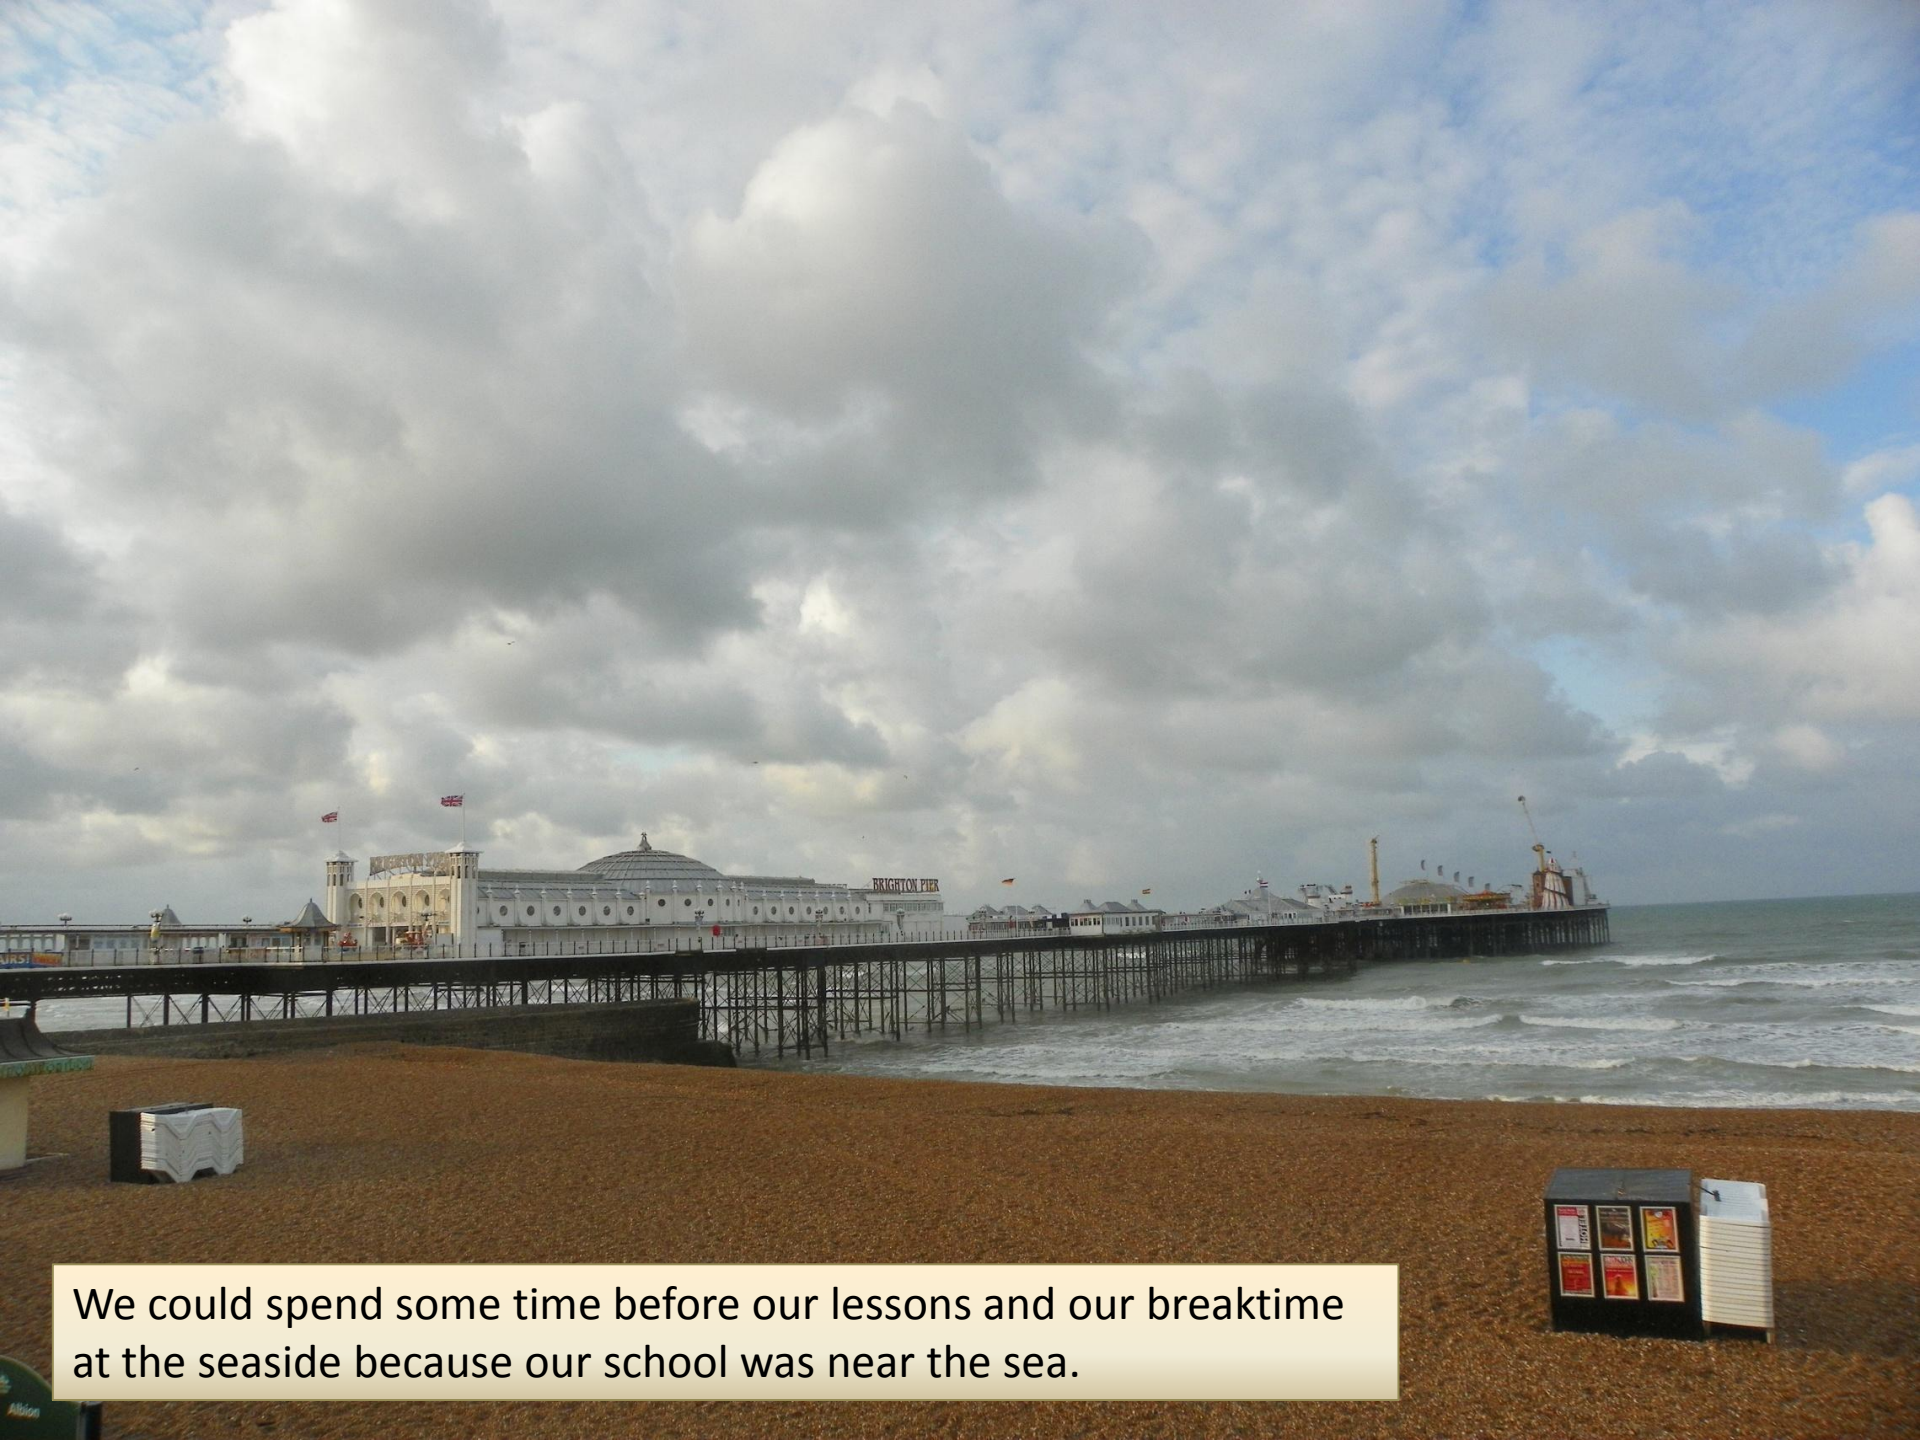

We bought a special bus ticket so we could travel everywhere around Brighton. The journey to our school took us about 20 minutes.

Every day we could see these beautiful typical English houses out of the bus window.

We could spend some time before our lessons and our breaktime at the seaside because our school was near the sea.

The seagull is a typical Brighton's animal. And you must protect your snack.

Our school was new, nice, friendly and full of many young people. We were the oldest students there. I liked to be at school as a student and I enjoyed it very much. We also did our homework every day properly.

We could improve our English also outside of our school. We met some nice people there. Our best schoolmate was Jan from Germany. He needed English for his new job so he studied very hard.

Brighton is a big and very nice town.

We also got to know
English history.

We waited for the Queen in Windsor but she didn't come.

I was interested in the special student's uniforms in Eton.

But the greatest experience for me was nature there, first of all Seven sisters with white cliffs.

I can recomend spending several weeks at English school in Brighton to everybody. But your stay should be longer than our two weeks. It was very usefull and openminded for me.
